This original collection offers a novel perspective: that of emerging societies and global inequalities. It is comprehensive yet focused; comparative yet cumulative; interdisciplinary yet cohesive. It presents a range of critical voices from and about the global South yet cautions that not all countries and sectors will benefit: only some capitalisms and communities will thrive as the BRICs supersede the dominance of the G-8.

— Timothy M Shaw, Professor & Director, Institute of International Relations at The University of the West Indies, St Augustine, Trinidad & Tobago

'A remarkably coherent collection of impressive essays exploring both the opportunities and the dark consequences of globalization. Between them the chapters deconstruct the concept of development, show what it means in different contexts in different societies, and alert us to the dangerous inequalitarian consequences of unplanned growth. A most welcome contribution to the growing literature on globalisation.'

— Bhikhu Parekh, Professor of Political Philosophy, University of Westminster, UK

This book brings a sociological perspective to the study of emerging economies and newly industrializing countries in emerging societies. Rather than being naïvely optimistic about the rise of major countries in the South such as China, India and Brazil, the book focuses on development and social inequality in emerging societies. Each chapter focuses on development and social inequality in these societies and, set within the context of 21st-century globalization — in marked contrast to 20th-century globalization — the book develops this phase of globalization as a theme.

Jan Nederveen Pieterse is Mellichamp Professor of Global Studies and Sociology, University of California Santa Barbara, USA, and the University of Maastricht, the Netherlands. He has published extensively on globalization, development studies and cultural studies. His publications include: Ethnicities and Global Multiculture: Pants for an Octopus; Globalization or Empire?: Globalization and Culture: Global Mélange and Development Theory: Deconstructions/Reconstructions.

Boike Rehbein is Director of the Global Studies Programme at the University of Freiburg, Germany. He has published widely on Southeast Asia, Bourdieu and globalization.
Also by Jan Nederveen Pieterse
IS THERE HOPE FOR UNCLE SAM? BEYOND THE AMERICAN BUBBLE ETHNICITIES AND GLOBAL MULTICULTURE
GLOBALIZATION OR EMPIRE?
GLOBALIZATION AND CULTURE: GLOBAL MÉLANGE
DEVELOPMENT THEORY: DECONSTRUCTIONS/RECONSTRUCTIONS
WHITE ON BLACK: IMAGES OF AFRICA AND BLACKS IN WESTERN POPULAR CULTURE
STEREOTYPING AND RACISM FOR BEGINNERS
EMPIRE AND EMANCIPATION: POWER AND LIBERATION ON A WORLD SCALE
POLITICS OF GLOBALIZATION (co-edited with S. Dasgupta)
GLOBALIZATION AND SOCIAL MOVEMENTS (co-edited with P. Hamel, H. Lustiger-Thaler and S. Roseneil)
GLOBAL FUTURES: SHAPING GLOBALIZATION
HUMANITARIAN INTERVENTION AND BEYOND: WORLD ORDERS IN THE MAKING
THE DECOLONIZATION OF IMAGINATION: CULTURE, KNOWLEDGE, POWER (co-edited with Bikhu Parekh)
EMANCIPATIONS, MODERN AND POSTMODERN
CHRISTIANITY AND HEGEMONY: RELIGION, AND POLITICS ON THE FRONTIERS OF SOCIAL CHANGE

Also by Boike Rehbein
GLOBALIZATION, CULTURE AND SOCIETY IN LAOS

Globalization and Emerging Societies
Development and Inequality

Edited by
Jan Nederveen Pieterse
University of California, Santa Barbara
Boike Rehbein
University of Freiburg, Germany
Contents

Contributors

Figures and Tables

Acknowledgements

Introduction 1: Development and Inequality
Jan Nederveen Pieterse

Introduction 2: Chapters
Boike Rehbein

I. Twenty-first Century Globalization
1. Twenty-first Century Globalization: Global Sociology
Jan Nederveen Pieterse

2. Rise of the Global South and the Emerging Contours of a New World Order
Ravi Arvind Palat

3. Are More People Becoming Vulnerable to Poverty? Evidence from Grassroots Investigations in Five Countries
Anirudh Krishna

II. Emerging Societies
4. Globalization and Development: Learning from Debates in China
James H. Mittelman

5. Internal Migration in Mainland China: Regional and World-Systemic Aspects
Ganesh K. Trichur

6. Paradigm Shift in India: Analysing the Impact of Liberalization and Globalization
Anand Kumar
Contributors

Joanildo A. Burity is Senior Researcher, Fundação Joaquim Nabuco, and Lecturer in Sociology and Political Science, Federal University of Pernambuco, Recife, Brazil. His research interests include religion and politics, collective action and participatory politics, culture and identity, and contemporary political theory. Recent books are Redes, parcerias e participação religiosa nas políticas sociais no Brasil (2006), and, as editor, with Maria D. C. Machado, Os votos de Deus: evangélicos, política e eleições no Brasil (2007) (joanildo@fundaj.gov.br).

Johanna Jansson is a Senior Analyst at the Centre for Chinese Studies, Stellenbosch University, South Africa. Her areas of interest are South Africa and China. Her latest publication is a volume edited with H. Edinger and H. Herman, New Impulses from the South: China’s Engagement of Africa (Stellenbosch University 2008).

Anirudh Krishna is Associate Professor of Public Policy and Political Science at the Sanford Institute of Public Policy, Duke University. His research interests are poverty dynamics and community development. Before turning to academia, Dr Krishna worked for 14 years in the Indian Administrative Service, where he managed diverse initiatives in rural and urban development. Publications include Active Social Capital: Tracing the Roots of Development and Democracy (Columbia University Press 2002), Changing Policy and Practice From Below: Community Experiences in Poverty Reduction (United Nations Press 2000) and Reasons for Hope: Instructive Experiences in Rural Development (Kumarian Press 1997) (ak30@duke.edu).

Anand Kumar is Professor of Sociology and chair of the Department of Sociology at Jawaharlal Nehru University, New Delhi, Secretary of the Indian Association of Sociology, and Coordinator of the Global Studies Programme. His research interests include poverty, India and nation-building. Recent books include Quest for Participatory Democracy (Rawat Publications 2007) and Political Sociology of Poverty In India (IIPA 2004) (anandkumar1@hotmail.com).
James H. Mittelman is University Professor of International Affairs at American University, Washington, DC. His research interests are East Asia and globalization. His recent books include The Globalization Syndrome: Transformation and Resistance (Princeton University Press 2000) and Whither Globalization? The Vortex of Knowledge and Ideology (Routledge 2004) (jmittelman@american.edu).

Sanusha Naidu is Research Director of the China in Africa programme based at FAHAMU in South Africa. Her areas of interest include China and Asia-Africa relations. Recent edited books are Crouching Tiger, Hidden Dragon? Africa and China (with Kweku Ampiah, University of KwaZulu Natal Press 2008), and The New Face of China-Africa Co-operation, Special Issue Review of African Political Economy (with Marcus Power and Giles Mohan, 2008) (sanusha@fahamu.org).

Jan Nederveen Pieterse is Mellichamp Professor of Global Studies and Sociology, University of California-Santa Barbara. Areas of interest are new globalization, global political economy and Asia. Recent books are Is There Hope for Uncle Sam? Beyond the American Bubble (Zed 2008), Ethnicities and Global Multiculture: Pants for an Octopus (Rowman & Littlefield 2007) and Globalization or Empire? (Routledge 2004) (jnp@global.ucsb.edu).

Ravi A. Palat is Associate Professor of Sociology at Binghamton University, New York. His research interests include global political economy, inequality and the rise of Asia. Important books are Capitalist Restructuring and the Pacific Rim (Routledge Curzon 2007) (ed.) and Pacific-Asia and the Future of the World-System (Greenwood Press 1993) (palat@binghamton.edu).

Boike Rehbein is Director of the Global Studies Programme, University of Freiburg, Germany. His research interests include social structure, globalization and Southeast Asia. Recent books are Theorien der Globalisierung (with Hermann Schwengel, UTB 2008) and Globalization, Culture and Society in Laos (Routledge 2007) (brehbein@gmx.de).

Hermann Schwengel is Professor and Chair of Sociology, University of Freiburg, Germany. His research interests are globalization, labour and political sociology. Recent publications include Theorien der Globalisierung (with Boike Rehbein, UTB 2008) and Optimismus im Konjunktiv, e-book (www.freidok.uni-freiburg.de/volltexte/2008) (hermann.schwengel@soziologie.uni-freiburg.de).

Ganesh K. Trichur teaches global political economy and Asian political economy in the Global Studies department at St Lawrence University, New York. Areas of interest include globalization, the new imperial conjuncture, political Islam and political Hinduism, and the relationship between the privatization of warfare and the privatization of disaster. Some of his work is published in Globalizations, Journal of World Systems Research. He is currently working on an edited volume on New Perspectives on Asia and the World System in the New Century (tganesh@stlawu.edu).
Figures and Tables

Figure 2.1: Inequality: Percentage share of income or consumption by population quintile
Figure 2.2: Poverty: Percentage of population below $1 and $2 a day
Figure 9.1: China's foreign exchange reserves 1993-2007
Figure 9.2: China's trade with Africa 1995-2007
Figure 9.3: Selected trade statistics for Africa 2007
Figure 9.4: Selected trade statistics for China 2007
Figure 9.5: Composition of China's imports from Africa 1995-2007

Table 1.1: Trends in 21st-century globalization
Table 2.1: GNP per capita as percentage of the GNP per capita of the First World
Table 2.2: Growth rates compared (per cent)
Table 3.1: Simultaneous escape and descent: some illustrations
Table 3.2: Escape and descent over two time periods in Uganda
Table 3.3: Poverty trends over two sub-periods in Peru (per cent of households)
Table 3.4: Movements in two sub-periods in 13 North Carolina communities (per cent of households)
Table 3.5: Household-poverty dynamics in different livelihood zones of Kenya over two time periods
Table 3.6: Principal reasons for descent into poverty (per cent of descending households)
Table 7.1: Highest positions achieved in 20 Rajasthan villages (1996-2006)
Table 7.2: Highest positions achieved in 20 Karnataka villages (1996-2006)
Table 7.3: Percentage reporting different career aspirations

Acknowledgements
